Product Advisory

Date: November 17, 2021
Product: DMDPCO and Others
Reason: Manufacture Discontinue (MD) Notification

Due to several issues with end-of-life parts and lack of demand, ATX is announcing the discontinuation of several parts from our broadband access RF product portfolio. See the table below for a list of affected SKUs.

Product-Specific Lifecycle Information

We strive to follow the ATX Product Hardware and Software Lifecycle Support Policy. In this instance, component and supply issues for the products mandate that general MD and End-of-Support (EOS) intervals be constrained. As such, the table below includes lifecycle milestones with associated dates specific to the products.

Product Lifecycle Milestones

Milestone	Definition	Date
Lifecycle Announcement	Date of communication announcing start of MD and the end-of-life process	November 17, 2021
Manufacture Discontinue (MD)	Last day on which affected product SKUs in this communication can be ordered, provided that stock already exists	May 1, 2022
End-of-Support (EOS)	Last day ATX Care technical support or repair or replacement will be offered	November 1, 2024
